

TREASURE PARCELS

The lists in the following pages show treasure parcels for each character level from 1st to 30th.

Mix: The first four parcels at each level are individual magic items, and the rest are monetary treasure parcels. Each monetary treasure parcel is expressed in three different ways—various amounts of coinage, gems, and art objects, and sometimes potions or elixirs.

Combining Parcels: Remember that you can combine parcels to make some larger treasures. Try to find a balance between the excitement of finding a large treasure hoard and the regular reward of finding several smaller treasures. As a quick rule of thumb, over the course of eight to ten encounters, use one treasure hoard of three parcels, two treasures of two parcels each, and three treasures with a single parcel. That leaves two to four encounters with no treasure reward.

Potions: Keep an eye on how many potions you give the characters. Don't give out more than about three to five potions over the course of a level. The potions in these lists include only those that are in the Player's Handbook—potions of healing, vitality, recovery, and life. If you want to include potions from other sources, insert them into parcels using their market price as part of a monetary treasure parcel's value.
